Springtime Allurements Throughout Ocean Beach

MOCKING BIRDS, ROBINS, PENGUINS AND CRANES DELIGHT EYE AND EAR

Sure harbingers of spring are seen and heard these days in glorious Ocean Beach. On the shore of the cliffs at Alligator Rock Lodge, penguins were making themselves at home early this week, according to a statement by Mr. W. W. Burch, a prominent Chicago publisher, who is spending a few weeks' vacation at the lodge. Mr. Burch also reports that seals have been seen disporting upon the rocks, while a school or two of whales have bobbed by not so very far out on the ocean.

SWEET SINGERS ARRIVE

Throughout the residential section of Ocean Beach, homefolks and visitors are being delighted with the charming notes of mocking birds. The sweet songsters are flitting here and there among the trees, selecting their summer homes. Be as wise as the mocking bird and come to Ocean Beach.

CRANES AND SEA BIRDS

Down on the bay shore of Ocean Beach the feathered tribe has taken full possession of the tule lowlands since the bay was legally declared a bird sanctuary. The other day a fine crane suddenly arose as a street car speeded across the flats, and gracefully flew to its mate on the opposite shore.

CHORUS OF FROGS

Wherever there's a fountain or pool in Ocean Beach, there you'll find frogs as plentiful as a popular machine along the highways. One resident has solved the problem of their elimination. A fountain pool, literally alive with the "croakers," has been made to rsemble a pond of snow and ice (with the use of lime). And the frog chorus is now silent.

RABBITS ON WHEELS

About the swiftest thing in appearance 'round the beaches is "Ed" Kickham's eight wild hares on roller skates. If you haven't seen the frolicsome rabbits on wheels, just visit the Mission Beach Roller Rink and look 'em up! It's a sight that'll linger in memory.

MONKEY MAKES MERRY

There's a rollicking boy and a dainty little girl living on Santa Cruz avenue, Ocean Beach. Their names are Warren and Elaine Cole, and their father, "Nat" Cole, recently presented them with a lively Asiatic-Africanus-South American monkey. At least, that's the three countries mixed up in Mister Monk, when he gets loose from his chain, according to all reports from the Cole family and their neighbors.

OCEAN BEACH SCHOOL ITEMS

Written for "The Beach News"
By Harvey Rubin, 6A Grade

When the street in front of the school was paved they did not take the dirt away from the curbs. When the big rain came, lots of the sand was washed onto the street. So, ten of the boys got shovels and a wheelbarrow, and started to clean the street. A boy appointed policeman blew a whistle when the autos came down the street. Then the boys would move to the side of the street until the car passed. Much of the dirt went to fix up the alley.

Miss Lee's room is beautifying the court by putting plants in the ground. Also they will paint coffee cans and fill them with plants to take home.

The children in Mrs. Gilpin's room are having an Arabian project. All of their work is in some way connected with Arabia. They are making a large book the size of a newspaper, and putting in it the best papers in all studies. This book is called "Arabia." They are also making a sand table of an Arabian village and desert. They are dressing dolls like Arabian women and sheiks. The children greatly enjoy this work because Arabia is such a strange and interesting country.

The 4B grade is planning to finish the Mission Study sand table. They are going to build a Mission Indian garden showing, with the San Diego Mission, the El Camino Real sign, wigwams, Indian huts of straw and adobe, standards and cross pieces of twigs for hanging bells, looms of twigs showing Indian designs on rugs and Indian implements with mortars and pestles.

A very interesting program was given on Lincoln's Birthday. One person from each room was selected to take part. At the last the entire school sang patriotic songs.

Pupils of the 6A grade are now studying about the Vikings. Some of the boys are modeling Viking ships of clay.

"GREATEST LIAR COULD NOT BEGIN TO TELL TRUTH OF SAN DIEGO"

That's the way Vice-President Olmstead, of the San Diego realty board, analyzed the present and future wonderful growth of San Diego in an after-dinner talk at a fine banquet given by the John P. Mills organization last Saturday night, celebrating the great success of the second contest of ten weeks for the sale of Point Loma property. The quota for the contest was $350,000, and the closed deals amounted to $425,902. Total closed deals since the organization began selling were said to exceed $1,000,000. Winners in the sales contest were awarded prizes by the head of the organization.

SAFETY FENCE WANTED AT CORONADO AVENUE AND OCEAN FRONT

When workmen began the preparation of Bacon street for paving, a fence, erected for the purpose of guarding the end of Coronado avenue at the ocean front, was removed. The roadway is now exceedingly dangerous for motorists. There's nothing but a narrow curbing to prevent a car from going over the cliffs in a drop or a hundred feet or more. The special attention of City Manager Rhodes is called for the remedy of the situation. A bench formerly used by the public is missing. Residents earnestly request the restoration of the fence and the bench.

MAJOR HIGHWAY PROJECT

John Nolan, city planner, advises the re-locating and widening of the main thoroughfare from the north through Mission Beach and across the flats, as the second major highway project for San Diego, following the route of the new high speed electric interurban railroad. This will provide a shorter and more direct route for the most largely traveled highway into San Diego.

BLOWS CEMENT ON BUILDINGS

The California Air Construction company, represented by C. O. Raynsford, with Bert M. Pringle in charge, recently arrived in Mission Beach to "Gunite" the Fun Zone in the Amusement Park. "Gunite" is the very latest method of plastering and stuccoing houses. The cement is blown on with an air pressure gun at 45 pounds pressure, the cement and sand mixing at the nozzle, guaranteeing no checking in plaster or stucco and being water-proof as well as fire-proof. Mission Beach is very proud to have the first demonstration of this most modern method of construction. It is surely worth seeing.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Paul Young celebrated his eleventh birthday with a party last Saturday, Feb. 6, at his home on Whiting court. Supper was served at 6:30 p. m. and games were played for prizes. Those present were: Jack Manney, Lytle Knight, Donald and Norman Coker, Gordon Turner, and the host, Paul Young.

McCLURE-ESSERT

Of interest to Mission Beach readers is the announcement of the marriage Jan. 14 of Peggy Jean Essert, of Canyon City, Colo., to Val McClure of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bridegroom's parents at 3926 Eagle street. Mr. McClure is associated with the Western Metal Supply company and is the son of V. F. McClure, captain of Fire Station No. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Val McClure will reside at 3926 Eagle street, San Diego.

A VISIT WITH POLA NEGRI

Mrs. A. Wusza and son, Walter, who have been residing at the "Esperanza" flats on Ormond court for the past three months, are returning to her home in Chicago, stopping en route in Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Francisco. Mrs. Wusza is the wife of the editor of "The Polish News," one of the largest Polish newspapers in the United States. She expects to visit with Pola Negri, the famous Polish movie star, while in Hallywood, and various other celebrities native of her home land. Speaking of San Diego, Mrs. Wusza highly praises the wonderful climate here, and has enjoyed her visit immensely. She is hoping to induce her husband to transfer his business and come west to make their permanent home.

NEW HOTEL OPENED

Mrs. Peace and Miss Austin have leased the Mission hotel for three years, at the corner of Mission boulevard and Ventura place. This hotel, adjoining the Amusement Park, fills a much needed demand for the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dowell and family, of Prescott, Arizona, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Skelley.

Colonel and Mrs. Pearson, who have been residing at 716 Toulon court for the past two months, left last week for Visalia.

Miss Lynda Brunson of Santee and Miss Edna Porter of Hillsdale were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Skelley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Irvine, after a year's stay in Mission Beach, have returned to Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. C. R. Clago and two little sons, and Mrs. Louise Hoerr, of Chicago, are occupying "The Grey Goose" cottage on Redondo court for the next two months.

Judge Chas. B. DeLong and Mr. V. F. McClure are contemplating making an addition to their beach cottage at 707 Venice court.

J. H. Jones, one of our year-round residents, is building another stucco cottage at 806 Isthmus court.

D. H. Hammond is building a $2500 cottage at 730 Rockaway court.

Mrs. A. L. Starr entertained her son, Earnest Starr, of Hollywood, as house guest last week.

Mrs. Harry Highfield, who has spent the past three months at her beach cottage on Venice court, has gone to reside in La Mesa.

Edw. A. Kickham Opens New Rink

ENTERPRISING PROPRIETOR OF M. B. ROLLER RINK INVADES LOS ANGELES

Recent managerial activities by Edward A. Kickham, the well known and ever-hustling owner and director of the Mission Beach Roller Rink, give positive proof that the happy and healthy recreation of roller skating is increasing in popular favor throughout Southern California.

For instance, just a few months ago Mr. Kickham thoroughly equipped and opened a new rink at Santa Ana, where it was immediately stamped with the seal of success and with Tom Carleton acting as resident manager. Mr. Kickham recently disposed of his Santa Ana holdings to J. A. Getz, and while keeping his hand on the helm of his magnificent Mission Beach rink, he kept his weather eye open for other fields to conquer.

Last Saturday night Mr. Kickham sprung his latest venture with the opening of a very attractive roller skating rink near Whittier boulevard in the center of the Belvidere Garden section of Los Angeles. It is reliably reported to have met with instant favor. As owner and general manager "Ed." Kickham was on the job himself for the grand inauguration, and has installed Thos. J. Carleton to look after his interests in his Belvidere Gardens rink at Los Angeles. Manager Carleton is most favorably remembered here for his geniality and ability as a champion roller skater, and his connection with the Kickham enterprises is most advantageous to all concerned, as well as the general public.

SUNSET CLIFFS HIGHWAY TO REMAIN OPEN

It is officially announced that, instead of a roadway along about 600 feet of the cliffs, as planned originally, the boulevard will extend for the full distance of 4000 feet, and the scenic point will be open to the public at all times.

ACADEMY CADETS BEAT LOYOLA PREPS

In a fast and furious game staged on the Los Angeles court last Saturday, the San Diego Army and Navy Academy basketball team nosed out the Loyola prepsters, 12 to 11.

There are now over 16,337,000 people in the United States who utilize electricity for light and power purposes.

P. A. KIERSTEAD UPHOLDS WILLARD BATTERY MEN'S FIVE-POINT FREE SERVICE

Many motorists are familiar with the meaning of Willard battery men's five-point free service, which is now specialized in by P. A. Kierstead at his service station, corner of Cable and Voltaire streets. Willard battery sales and service form the keynote of his latest announcement, in which particular attention is also called to the presentation and redemption of Merchants' Service Coupons. Mr. Kierstead states that he will continue to repair, rebuild and recharge all makes of batteries, while prompt and expert attention will be given to general auto repairs. As a special local convenience, ice is sold in large or small quantities at Kierstad's Service Station, the middle title, "Service," emphasizing all that it implies.

OUR SLOGAN OF "HANDS ACROSS THE INLET" BRINGS HAPPY RESULTS

With very striking evidence of progress and prosperity soundly established throughout the beach districts and Point Loma, the benefit accruing from CO-OPERATION becomes more pronounced each passing week.

Persistently and consistently, for nearly four years, "The Beach News" has advocated CO-OPERATION among the good folks of this favored section of Southern California.

Circulating in hundreds upon hundreds of homes in the beach districts and with a most substantial clientele in San Diego, as well as having subscribers in thirty-seven states and three foreign countries, this paper always endeavors to promote the best interests of Mission Beach, Ocean Beach, Pacific Beach and Point Loma.

The ALPHABETICAL arrangement of M. B., O. B., P. B., and P. L. has been continuously made in fairness to those directly concerned.

It's an undeniable fact that the growth of any community is greatly retarded by the exhibition of petty jealousies, sordid-selfishness and cankerous envy. Thank goodness, the beaches are becoming awake to the great truth that the interests of one form the interests of all.

The front page of "The Beach News" regularly reflects, in proper proportion, the wonderful prosperity of this splendid beach and bay section of San Diego, from the La Jolla boundary to the tip end of Point Loma, while two to three columns, under the favorite captain of "Katherine's Kollum," faithfully portray the social activities of Ocean Beach in particular.

Since the creation of our slogan, "Hands Across the Inlet," a year or so ago, there has been a most decided and happy increase in the way of CO-OPERATION among the business and residential elements at the trio of beaches.

For instance, the entire beach and Point Loma territory, represented by "The Beach News," is now covered by the Western Lumber company, by Faber's four grocery stores, by Reid's Transfer, by the Peninsula Masonic fraternity, by the Catholic and Protestant churches, by Froide's photo studio and branch telegraph office, by the Ocean Beach Cleaners, by Kraft's drug store, by dinner parties at the Alligator Rock Lodge, by local building and paving contractors, by beach and Point Loma realty brokers and salesmen, by local plumbers and electricians, by garages and service stations, by the Ocean Beach police force, by radio dealers, by the Mission Beach Women's Swimming club, by regular patrons of the Mission Beach roller rink, by devotees of Terpsichore, and with the forthcoming opening of the second season at the Mission Beach amusement center, fun and recreation will be afforded for children and grown-ups, while Ocean Beach assumes its exalted place as the finest and most delightful residential community on the Pacific coast.

"All's well that ends well."

CO-OPERATE!

KEEP BALBOA PARK FOR PARK PURPOSES

At a regular meeting of the Union League Club of San Diego county, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, That the Union League Club of San Diego county is opposed to any portion of Balboa park being appropriated for any other than park purposes."

BRIGHTON AVENUE PAVING

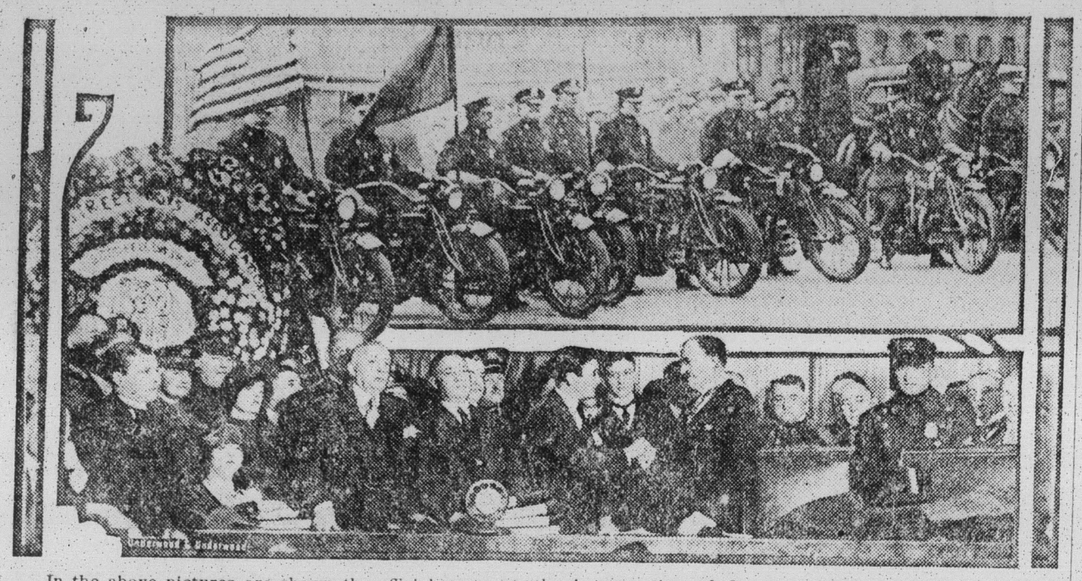
City Manager Rhodes has recommended to the council the awarding of the contract for paving Brighton avenue, between Abbott and Guizot streets, to Bert Noble, whose bid was $37,739.13.

Scenes at Inauguration of New York's Mayor



In the above pictures are shown the official group at the inauguration of James J. Walker as mayor of New York, when he was shaking hands with his predecessor, Mr. Hylan; and the police motor cycle escort of his honor lined up outside the city hall.

Fountain in Philadelphia Beautified by King Winter

The touch added by King Winter to Philadelphia's famous Logan circle fountain on the parkway. The three bronze figures represent the three streams flowing through the city—the Delaware, Schuylkill and Wissahickon. In the background are silhouetted the city hall and the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul.

WELFARE EXPERT

Dr. Elizabeth A. Sullivan, a trained physician and expert in psychiatric work, is now being used to deal with the difficult cases of the Boston welfare societies that deal with estranged parents and unruly children. It is believed that Doctor Sullivan will be able to smooth out many family difficulties and steer many children to the right path. Doctor Sullivan is a graduate of Tufts college medical school, has attended the Harvard Medical school in bacteriology and pediatrics, and has been the resident physician at the Massachusetts reformatory for women.

RED MAN IN CHURCH

This American Indian, Red Fox St. James, or "Skiuhushus," has been ordained as deacon of the Anglican Universal church by Right Rev. George Winslow Plummer, bishop of that church. Red Fox is known as a lecturer on Indian life. He was born on the Montana plains and educated at Carlisle. In six months he will be a priest.

Polar Ship Now in Tropic Seas

The Roosevelt, Peary's North pole ship, arrived at Los Angeles harbor from Seattle recently, after a 17-day fight with Pacific gales that would have sent many a good ship down. She is on her way to Miami and Capt. W. F. Sporman's Christmas bride is accompanying him on the 5,000-mile trip. The vessel and the skipper and his wife are shown in the illustration.

Canadian Houses of Parliament

An interesting photograph of the New Canadian houses of parliament at Ottawa that have just been completed at a cost of $12,000,000. This building replaces the one destroyed by fire in 1916, and is believed to be one of the finest gothic structures in the world.

The directors of the Napa, Napa county chamber of commerce recently took up the proposed erection of a textile factory in that city and voted to take all necessary action to encourage the locating of the plant in Napa.

Butte county is one spot in California where Cupid has the divorce imp completely beaten. Records received by the state show that for every divorce suit filed in Butte county during 1925 four persons applied for licenses to marry.

Downieville, Sierra county, and the surrounding district is in the grip of the most serious epidemic of the flu which has visited it for several winters. Three score homes have one or more sufferers. In some cases, the entire group is ill.

Despite the fact that the rainfall this season is but five inches, against more than fifteen at the same time last year, Napa valley has not suffered from the drought. This is due in great part to the heavy fogs that have hung over the region for the greater part of the last month.

Over the protests of residents of the outlying districts of Lodi, San Joaquin county, who declared they needed their dogs to run free at night to drive off possible marauders, the city council adopted a strict ordinance requiring all canines within the city limits to be kept up or on a leash.

Dates for fairs to be held in the San Joaquin valley and other California communities this year were set at a meeting held in San Francisco of the Western Fairs' association. Fresno's fair will be held September 27 to October 2. The Merced county fair will be held at Merced August 25 to 28; the San Joaquin county fair at Stockton, August 24 to 29; Stanislaus county fair at Modesto, September 13 to 18, Tulare county fair at Tulare, September 21 to 25; Madera county fair at Madera, September 23 to 25. The California state fair will be held in Sacramento, September 4 to 11, and the Oregon state fair at Salem, September 27 to October 2.

Fifty-six building permits for dwellings constructed in 1925 in Marysville, Yuba county, represent an investment of $253,154. This is shown by the records in the office of City Clerk Richards. During the year 1924 the number of homes built to meet the demand of the increasing population was thirty-one. Of the homes built in 1925 only five cost less than $2,000 and but twelve cost less than $3,000. The total permits issued in 1925 for all classes of structure numbered 333, against 292 in 1924.

Estimates of the bureau of vital statistics of the state board of health show that the birth rate in California dipped still further during the year 1925. The date rate also decreased. These estimates indicate there were 87,100 babies born in the state last year. This is a slight increase over the 86,899 births in 1924, but by reason of the estimated increase in population during the last twelve months, the 1925 rate is actually lower than for 1924.

Oroville's (Butte county) total building program for the year 1925 was $141,092. The program of building will more than treble this amount. A resume of announced plans for the erection of new buildings in 1926 shows a $450,000 program mapped out for the year already. The program includes the completion of a new bank building, erection of a new theater, a new Elks' building, a Legion memorial hall, a Native Sons' building and a new store building.

The bank clearings of Santa Rosa, Sonoma county, for 1925 totaled $26,477,953.72, the largest in the history of the city and $1,235,457.74 in excess of 1924. The bank clearings for nine months of the year were in excess of those of the corresponding months the previous year, and December exceeded December, 1924, by $199,845.37. At the same time the total bank deposits on hand at the close of business by the local financial institutions exceeded $10,000,000.

P. H. ## Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

A HARD JOB

In the town of Reven-Saw the parents were taking the places of the children, and the children were taking the places of the parents.

Dr. Billy Repeated It.

For instance little Billy Mahon was the make-believe dentist, and he was treating Daddy Fenwick who, since changing places with his son, had become a boy.

You may wonder how such changes could have taken place, but Reven-Saw was such an unusual town anything could happen there—even the most unusual thing.

Now Daddy Fenwick had been sent to see Doctor Billy, and as Doctor Billy did not know what his own father knew about dentistry, he had put a piece of cotton in the very tooth that hadn't hurt.

"But you've put the cotton in the wrong tooth," Daddy Fenwick said quite clearly now that the dab of cotton was out of his mouth.

"Dear me, did I, indeed?" laughed Parent Dr. Billy. "Well, it only goes to show I healed up your sore tooth before you were even out of my chair."

"Some dentists would have kept you coming back day after day. That's not my way.

"Shall you leave the cotton in the other side? Oh, I would. An ounce of prevention and all of that, you know."

He waved in a grand manner, and Daddy Fenwick joined his parent in the waiting room.

He had made up his mind he wouldn't say anything about needing to come back in three months or that his teeth weren't strong, but Doctor Billy repeated it to Parent Sally who promised she would attend to this. It was so important, she agreed, to look after a child's teeth.

In front of the dentist's office they met Parent Ethel Milton.

"My dear," said Parent Ethel Milton to Parent Sally, "I haven't seen you in an age.

"Couldn't you come over this evening with Robert and Natalie for a game of bridge? I've so much to tell you."

"Let me see! Yes, I do believe we can come. Thanks so much. It will be a great pleasure."

Daddy Fenwick didn't say a word but that evening when he got home he said to Mother Fenwick:

"They're all going out tonight after they get us to bed.

"We can have some fun. Plenty of pillow fights and everything."

Of course that was quite naughty of Daddy Fenwick — especially since he had been a parent so recently and had found many occasions to scold the children for sitting up too late.

Parent Natalie put the oatmeal on the stove so it would be all ready in the morning.

"We Can Have Some Fun."

Most nights now, the new parents, wearily went to bed after all their chores were over and after they had ended their day of looking after their one-time parents who were now pretending to be their children, so they would all see what it was like.

But tonight they were going out.

So there would be pillow fights.

Plenty of them!

Riddles

What is the correct thing to put into mince-pie?

Your teeth.

* * *

How many sides are there to a Christmas cake?

Two! The outside and the inside.

* * *

What is it that smells most at a Christmas dinner?

The nose.

* * *

Which toe never has a corn?

Mistletoe.

* * *

If U, V, W, X, Y, and Z were invited to a Christmas party, what time would they arrive?

Just after T (tea).

Confident of Invitation

Mother had forbidden Jane and Ree to visit the neighbors without first being invited, and then they must ask mother's permission.

One day Jane rushed excitedly into the house and asked if she might go over to Mrs. Smith's.

"Did she invite you?" mother inquired.

"No," replied Jane, confidentially, "but she's out in the yard and I fink she's going to."

Light No Clew to Tube's Condition

Heat to Cause Flow of Electrons Possible With Little Illumination.

Many radio fans are under the impression that the amount of light a radio tube gives off is an indication of its sensitiveness or general condition, and some are even inclined to regard with suspicion tubes that appear to glow only dimly. The fallacy of this idea is explained by Clifford M. Norberg, a research engineer.

The fact that a radio bulb does emit light is entirely an incidental feature of its operation, says Norberg. What is desired in a tube is a flow of little particles of electricity called "electrons," and the easiest way to obtain it is to burn certain kinds of wires in glass bulbs from which the air has been exhausted. The temperature must be quite high in order to make the flow copious, and most wires must be heated white hot by the current from the A battery for proper operation. Of course the incandescent wire, or "filament," as it is correctly called, emits considerable light, but this phenomenon has absolutely no connection with the functioning of the tube from the radio standpoint.

Radioactive Materials.

It is quite possible to obtain a stream of the minute electrons in a tube by the use of certain substances known as "radioactive" materials, but their expense and rarity make their practical application extremely limited. Radium and radium compounds are foremost in this radioactive group, so the cost of tubes equipped with filaments of this precious element can easily be imagined. No A battery, incidentally, would be required for such tubes, as the flow of electrons from radioactive compounds is automatic and continuous.

Certain less expensive chemical compounds of high electron emitting properties have been successfully employed in radio tubes. The wire which ordinarily must be burned at white heat is coated with a layer of one of these compounds, and the tube is then operated at a mere dull cherry-red heat. The new UX power tubes employ coated filaments of exactly this nature, as do the 216-A tubes that have been on the market a number of years.

Little Light Visible.

In many of the modern tubes, of both the coated and uncoated variety, little or no light is visible through the glass because of the inner coating of mercury which lines the bulbs. The heaviness of this coating varies considerably, as will, therefore, the amount of light that penetrates through it, so no significance at all can be attached to the brilliance of the illumination.

Circuit Tester That Is Very Easily Made

The illustration shows the construction of the tester quite clearly. Procure two pieces of wood, one about ¾ by 3 inches and the other about ½ by 3 inches. If you have a piece of fiber tubing that is large enough to take the socket of the flashlight bulb, it will be better still.

If you use wood, drill a hole right through that is large enough to take the pointer, which can be a piece of 12-gauge solid copper wire. Redrill the one end large enough to take the metal part of the lamp socket. The lamp and socket can be bought at any hardware store.

Cut a piece of flexible wire about two feet long for each of the wooden handles. This will give you sufficient length to reach any part of a large receiver.

When you wish to test a circuit, connect a small battery of the correct voltage for the bulb you are going to use to the ends of the flexible wires. By touching the pointer to the ends of the different parts of the circuit you wish to test, you can tell at once by the light in the lamp if the circuit is complete or not. To make quite sure of each test, it is a good idea to move various parts of the wire in the circuit being tested and note if the light flickers when certain parts of the wire is moved. If it does, then you have a poor connection or one that requires resoldering.—Philadelphia Record.

SHORT CIRCUITS

Synthetic crystals can be made by melting lead shavings in a ladle and then adding flowers of sulphur. When the mass stops burning, pour out and allow to cool.

Determine the polarity of a storage battery by placing wires leading from the terminals in a glass of salt water. The wire from which bubbles rise is negative.

A small quantity of oil poured in the solution used in a B battery rectifier jar will prevent it from evaporating.

STOP COUGHING!

Sacramento, Calif.—"Ever since I was a girl at home I have taken Dr. Pierce's medicines, especially the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets.' My first experience was when I was attending school. Thru overwork and study I got run down and very weak, had no strength. My mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it was not long until I was well and strong. Then in later years I developed a severe cough that just seemed to hang on. I took the 'Discovery' again and it relieved me of the bronchial trouble and my cough disappeared."—Mrs. D. A. Sanderson, 1528 D St. All dealers. Tablets or liquid.

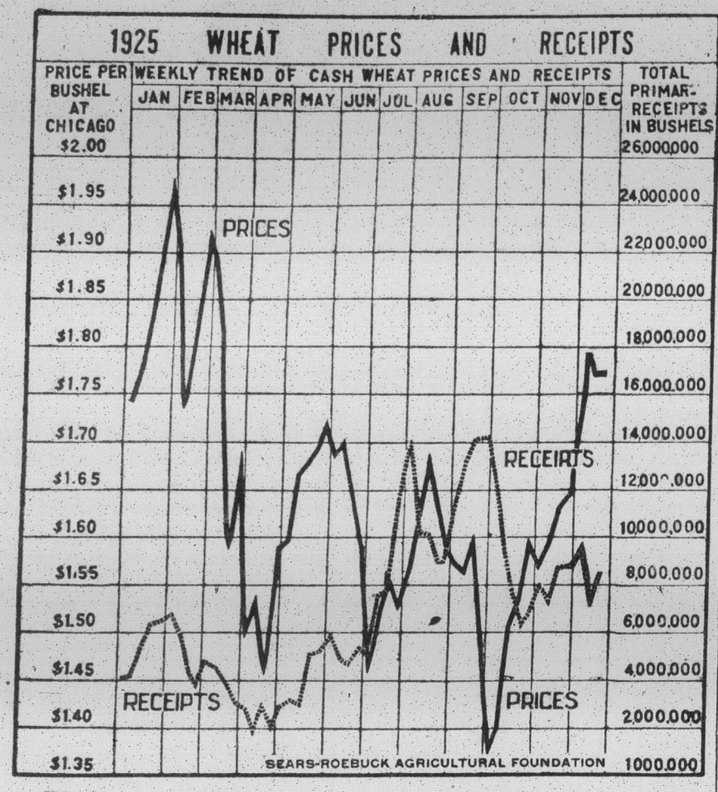
Wheat Crop of 1925 Shows Lowest Average Since 1904



THE 1925 wheat market has been one of many surprises for the growers of both winter and spring wheat, states the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. Owing to unfavorable weather conditions last winter, which caused a large abandonment of winter wheat acreage due to the winter killing of nearly ten million acres, or 22½ per cent of the area sown in wheat, the total crop production in 1925 reached only 669,365,000 bushels as compared to 862,627,000 bushels the year before. With the exception of 1917, this is the heaviest abandonment of wheat area on record. The final harvest averaged only 12.8 bushels per acre, which is the lowest average since 1904. Spring wheat, which looked very promising at first, also lost heavily through injury from rust. The yield per acre was cut down to 12.9 bushels, which is 3.3 bushels below the 1924 average.

The carry-over of wheat from 1924 was moderate. From 635,000,000 to 650,000,000 bushels are required for domestic consumption. Exports up to the end of December were nearly 60,000,000 bushels, and the remaining exportable surplus is small. Both winter and spring combined production totaled 198,262,000 bushels less than in 1924, making it the smallest wheat crop since 1917 in terms of production, and in proportion to population, the smallest wheat crop since 1890.

Because of a belief in a world shortage, wheat prices early in 1925 reached a high level, going up to $1.98. When it became evident that the apparent world shortage had been exaggerated, the market declined rapidly and went as low as $1.46 in April.

"FROM MISSOURI"

Missouri business men have formed an organization "to show the tax wastage and to formulate a plan whereby the present methods of administration may be improved so the taxpayers may receive a larger return."

They propose to examine the whole state administrative system and also that of the counties. Such an effort should be welcomed by every public official, as well as by the people.

Several states have formed such organizations, and the rest should follow, for it is only by organized effort that state, county and city taxes will ever be reduced.

GAS LEADS 'EM ALL

Organization of the first gas company dates back to 1816, when a company was formed to light the streets of Baltimore, Maryland. Electricity is now used for lighting purposes, but gas leads in low cost and efficiency all other substances as a fuel for homes and industries.

As a public utility, the gas industry is essentially a democratic institution. It gives equal service to rich and poor, the home with its cook stove and gas appliances and the great manufacturing plant which daily consumes enormous quanties of this practical, economical and dependable fuel. Its customers and investors represent people in every walk of life, a true cross-section of America.

DELIGHTFUL VALENTINE PARTY BY O. B. WOMEN'S CLUB

A very enjoyable Valentine party was given last Monday evening by the O. B. Women's club at the congregational church. Several games were put on by Miss Roberta Winans, which were quite spirited at times, between the "Red Caps" and the "White Caps." Afterward delicious home-made cake and chocolate and pretty Valentine candy hearts were served by Mrs. F. Boy, Mrs. E. V. White and Mrs. A. M. Morgan. Those who did not attend surely missed a good time, as it was one of the most enjoyable meetings held since the organization of the O. B. Women's club.

MODERN METHODS PREVENT KINKY HAIR

With their newest and most modern equipment for permanent waving, the Constance Beauty Salon at 5041 Newport avenue heralds the slogan: "No more kinky hair!" It is announced that their system for permanent waves leaves the hair in a soft, lustrous condition and produces a large, natural wave. Switches and hair pieces are also made from one's own combings and cut hair. Appointments can be made for evenings; phone Point Loma 0144.

"FIRST LADIES OF LAND"

RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge has accepted an honorary vice-chairmanship of the national committee on Red Cross Volunteer service, together with Mrs. Dawes, wife of the Vice-President; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. William H. Taft and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wives of three former Presidents. This is the first time in the history of the United States that the wives of the President and Vice-President, together with the wives of three former Presidents, have become officers of the same organization.

The volunteer work of the Red Cross, over which the committee has supervision, is done by women throughout the United States. It includes, among other services, the making of garments for use in time of disasters; preparing surgical dressings; making Christmas bags for American soldiers in insular possessions and foreign territory, and transcribing books into Braille for the use of the blind.

LUMINOUS BUTTONS POINT THE WAY

There seem to be few who have not at some time nursed a sore shin as the result of stumbling in the dark in search of an elusive electric light switch, or who have not hunted and fumbled around a friend's doorway in search of the bell. All of which is due entirely to the absence of luminous or phosphorescent buttons, or pull chain pulls, bell buttons and house numbers. These conveniences cost very little—about ten cents apiece. Or the prepared phosphorous can be bought and applied at home at quite a saving. Yet there seem to be woefully few homes with even one of these conveniences. It is, therefore, concluded that the majority does not know of their existence (the luminous guides) or how readily they may be produced with some phosphorescent paint, which can be had in almost any good housefurnishing or electrical shop.

Youthful Short Jackets Stressed in Spring Suits

Short skirts and short jackets feature the new spring suits. For this we should be duly thankful, since the combination spells always a youthful silhouette. In fact the tailored jacket styles are quite cunning, introducing clever details, such as rounded corners, girlish turn-down collars, while the coloring seems to say spring in its bright tones. Not only is the model in this picture interesting in the above-mentioned details, but it claims distinction in the quality and kind of fabric of which it is styled. Handsome tweed-like wool jersey is the medium chosen for this appealing suit. Its general tone is thistle color, but this pretty spring woolen comes in other pastel shades, especially emphasizing rose, green, also blue.

Very smart for spring is the short separate coat-jacket worn with a plaited skirt of contrasting material.

Show Definite Value of Municipal Forests

The government is still by far the largest interest committed to true conservation, and the national forests are the largest areas under this type of management. The obvious reasons for this condition are the paramount public interest, the enduring character of the government, its freedom from taxation, and like advantages. What the national and state governments have done in this field is too familiar for repetition here, but there is a new governmental development in forestry that is worthy of notice. This is the movement for town forests, French Strother observes, in the World's Work.

This movement was inspired by observation of European experience. In Sweden, France and Germany many towns and cities own their own municipal woodlands, and operate them as a regular function of local government. So profitable are some of these town forests that they relieve the citizens of all local taxes. No such results could be hoped for in this country, but the advantages are so numerous that several states have enacted laws to encourage towns to acquire municipal forests. Such woodlands provide employment for labor, raw material for local needs (even material for small local mills, at a price that saves the consumer the freight), and a near-by recreation ground of great social value. In some places, the town forest is an invaluable protective cover for the local water supply.

Industrial Experts Will Advise Towns

An approved list of industrial experts to advise cities and towns on ways and means of obtaining the type of industries suitable to their location has been started by the National Association of Real Estate Boards at the suggestion of the industrial property division of that body.

A large proportion of the 557 member boards of the national association throughout the United States and Canada are co-operating with cities in locating new industries. The Knoxville (Tenn.) chamber of commerce has asked the local board for its aid in a campaign for factories. The San Francisco real estate board and the chamber of commerce are making joint effort to aid manufacturers in securing the best possible sites by making complete listings of all industrial properties.

Consolidated Schools

Comparing costs and results of education in consolidated and in one-teacher schools in Connecticut shows that 29 per cent of pupils fourteen years of age in one-room schools drop out during the school year, but only 8 per cent in consolidated schools drop out; 41 per cent of those fifteen years of age in one-room schools drop out as compared with 12 per cent in consolidated schools. The percentage of elimination in the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of one-teacher schools is approximately twice as great as in the same grades in consolidated schools. Of the teachers in one-teacher schools, 23 per cent have had two years or more of professional training, compared with 49 per cent in consolidated schools; and teachers in consolidated schools have on the average two years more experience than those in one-teacher schools.—School Life.

Lien Law Simplification

Widespread approval is being expressed of the announcement by Secretary Hoover that he has appointed a committee to work on simplification and unification of the many and varying lien laws which now confuse the construction industry. In order to frame a model act which will be as fair as possible to all different groups, it was felt that these groups should be represented in deciding on the general principles to be embodied in the act and that the best legal advice should be obtained in connection with phrasing it.

Town Should Advertise

Once a town has reason to be proud of itself it should post its location. No traveler who comes within 15 miles of a town that has any enterprise should need to ask direction or the distance to the place; every turn of the roads should give the desired information. When a town has so little enterprise as to conceal its whereabouts from the passerby it usually is not worth discovering.

Street Lighting

Street lighting costs are low. Statistics show that for every dollar of city tax, street lighting tax may run from 28 cents to 48 cents. For a really good lighting, the annual expenditure should be $1 per capita per year, according to experts. Only nine states spent more than 90 cents and of these only four spent more than $1.

Use of Stone

One means of adding permanence and a sense of strength to the better home is the use of stone. No material lends itself so easily to more dignified treatment or has the lasting qualities which can go down through the ages if necessary.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE LANDLORD

THE tenants of the Polar Bear apartment had done everything in their power to induce Monk E. Wrencher, their flinty-hearted landlord, to give them a little steam heat in their time of need. They had even had him serenaded by an expensive brass band, which played "Keep the Home Fires Burning," continuously for five hours beneath his windows. But to no avail—icicles continued to form on the radiators and more tenants contracted pneumonia and passed to a nicer, warmer climate.

And then, suddenly, Monk E. Wrencher felt a strange stirring of his long dormant conscience.

"After all," he thought, "the tenants have some rights. They're human beings, after all, even if they are tenants. We can't all be landlords. Who knows, by some odd turn of fate, that I might not be a tenant myself some day. I'll give them all the steam they want, beginning tomorrow."

Now, as it chanced, the next day was unseasonably, uncomfortably warm. And even as the tenants threw up their windows for a breath of air, the radiators suddenly grew smoking hot and great clouds of steam arose as if to mock them.

With frantic cries they sought out Monk E. Wrencher and gave him such a pitiless drubbing that he never sent up another ounce of steam.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

A DESTROYING ANGEL

GOING through the world today is a destroying angel, sowing seeds of strife and sorrow among men and women who proudly proclaim from the housetops and on the street corners that they are free agents independent in thought and action.

Yet when you look impartially into the purpose which actuate these self-confident persons, you will discover to your amazement that their boastful assertions are at variance with the truth.

With willing ears, however, they listen attentively to base argument which if followed to the end would ultimately destroy their individuality and usefulness.

So, instead of accepting advice from elders, from interested wives and husbands, or from employers, these inconsistent persons gulp down poisonous draughts which have been mixed with exceeding care to dethrone their reason.

Out of weekly or monthly earnings they hand over at regular intervals a stipulated percentage of their receipts, to keep an arch enemy and his cohorts in fine raiments, luxurious living quarters, choice cigars, trained servants and imposing automobiles.

While his victims are toiling he enjoys life, making a pretense of improving their living conditions, principally by worn out catchwords and promises which are never kept.

He compliments and flatters as he robs them, fattens, grows rich and domineering.

And all this he does with the money earned by his thousands of unsuspecting slaves who have yet to learn the knack of saving and the primitive art of taking care of themselves.

Under the strong will and hypnotic gaze of this destroying angel, his miserable serfs who are constantly complaining of "hard times" let themselves go blind of their own best interests.

Among the NOTABLES

SIR WALTER SCOTT

THERE were many famous people born on the fifteenth of August, among them Napoleon, De Quincy and Sir Walter Scott.

This last, the great Scottish poet and novelist, was born in Edinburgh, in 1771. As he was a delicate child, no formal sort of education was given him and he was rather indulged in his tastes. The most predominant of these was a love of hearing the tales of adventure on the Scottish border, which his grandmother and family friends used to tell him, and to read collections of legends and ballads, of his and other countries. He studied French, Italian and German, just to read their literature in the original.

He did not begin to write very young; he seemed to have stored up tales in his head until, when he finally settled on authorship, they simply tumbled out onto the manuscript. His first was the poem "Lay of the Last Minstrel," a great success and a departure from the abstruse poetry of the period. Later, he took to novel writing, doing two and three a year, with amazing rapidity. "Kenilworth," "Ivanhoe," "Bride of Lammermoor"—taken as the basis of the opera "Lucia," later—and dozens of others were written and fairly gobbled up by an eager public. Scott made money rapidly, had a lovely home and an income aside from his earnings. Then a publishing firm he was interested in, failed, leaving him more than $600,000 debts. Though he could have avoided paying, he insisted on earning and paying every cent, and before he died in 1832 had almost done so.

A FEW DESSERTS

A SIMPLE dessert which is very soon prepared if one has the ingredients on hand, is this: Add a half cupful more or less of coarsely chopped pecans to whipped cream, adding powdered sugar to sweeten. Serve on bananas.

Apple Charlotte.

Soak one-half of an envelope of sparkling gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, add one-half cupful of boiling water and stir until well dissolved; now add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one cupful each of sugar and cooked apple; when the mixture begins to stiffen, beat with a wire whisk, then fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs and beat again. Turn into a mold lined with lady fingers.

Apple Roll.

Prepare a rich biscuit dough. Cut apples to make a cupful (chop them in the chopping bowl). Roll out the dough and put in the apples sugared and flavored to taste. Roll up and bake one-half hour. Pour over some cranberry sauce and bake ten minutes longer. Peaches, plums and cherries may be used for this pudding.

Lemon Sauce.

Beat the yolk of one egg, add one tablespoonful of flour, one cupful of boiling water, a teaspoonful of butter and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice with the grated rind of the lemon. Cook until smooth. Serve hot.

WE LOVE YOU

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

NOT to one girl only
I would write a rime,
But to all the lonely,
Anywhere or time—
Yes, to ev'ry maiden
From her man apart,
Ev'ry lover laden
With a heavy heart.

But to those asunder,
Anytime or where
What the word, I wonder,
That will lighten care?
Here's the day, the reason,
Why I send a line:
It's the happy season
Of St. Valentine.

Not to one girl only
I would write a rime,
But to all the lonely,
Anywhere or time—
Not to king or caddie
With a lassie dear,
But to ev'ry laddie,
Anywhere or here.

Ev'ry maid among you,
How I hope you see
That the song that's sung you
Doesn't come from me—
Not one heart discovers,
Not one tale would tell,
But a million lovers
Send their love as well.

Man, wherever wending,
Please to understand
Not one maid is sending
Something from her hand;
But a million of them,
Just as fond and true,
Though a million love them,
Send their love to you.

It's a mighty greeting
Via Valentine,
Singing and repeating
All along the line:
Silk or rags arrayed in,
High or low your clan,
Here's to ev'ry maiden,
Here's to ev'ry man!

What the day or weather,
What the land or clime,
All of us together
Love you all the time.
All of us love only
You, and you, and you—
All of us are lonely,
All of us are true!

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

AT 21—Former Governor Louis F. Hart of Washington Listened Patiently to the Recitals of Unruly Youth.

WHEN I was twenty-one my position in life was not very exalted. I had to earn a living somehow, and teaching school seemed about as good a job as any other. So I taught school in the state of Missouri and listened to the recitals of unruly and impatient youth with what orderly patience I could muster. As this was over 20 years ago, I don't remember how far this good nature of mine extended. Maybe my pupils did love their teacher.

"At the same time I was teaching I studied law. The gathering of this additional knowledge had to be done at night but since my ambition was to be a great figure in law I did not mind the extra work but welcomed it gladly.—Louis F. Hart."

TODAY—Mr. Hart's early ambition to become a great lawyer was turned aside, for although he got his A. B. from Harvard at twenty-one and was called to the bar soon after; he did not practice for very long but went into the fire insurance business. In 1912, when he was only thirty-one, he was elected lieutenant governor of Washington and re-elected in 1916. Upon the death of Governor Lister, he became the chief executive and when his term expired in 1921 he was re-elected for another four-year term. At the end of this period Governor Hart had the distinction of having been the head, or the vice-head of the state of Washington for 13 consecutive years.

BELTS OF GAY KID ARE POPULAR; SPRING WASH GOODS NOW ON VIEW

TO MOTHERS who feel the urge of spring sewing comes the message of plaids, both lightweight woolen and gingham, for little girls' dresses—and a third fabric is added, namely plaided taffeta. Here is a further word of advice: be sure to look into the matter of gay colored leather belts, for little daughter will be sure to insist on having her pretty plaid frock belted just to keep up with the vogue.

It matters not if the dress be made in straightline one-piece effect, as the picture shows, or in jumper and skirt, be sure not to omit the leather belt, else little daughter may ask the reason why, for most of her school companions are sure to smilingly display a cunning belt of some sort this season.

Seems as if the advance displays of spring wash goods were never so alluring. Such lovely cotton reps, broadcloths and imported sateens! Washable crepes there are by the score, also cotton and rayon mixtures, the newest among which is tub-rayon alpaca. To the aspiring home dressmaker they surely must whisper in unmistakable accents, "Do it now." And why not? Later the great outdoors will be calling to golf, tennis and springtime strolls.

The frock in the picture is a true exponent of a sweet simplicity frock, such as can so successfully be made at home. In choosing materials for home dressmaking let thoughts of pastel colorings guide you. Pastel blendings will especially find expression, in such ways, for instance, as bordering or piping a lively tone with another complementary shade. For the pretty dress here illustrated old rose cotton broadcloth is suggested, using buttons of lavender tinted pearl, matching it with wee velvet ribbon.

Plaid Frock for Spring.

Fine woolen plaid was the chosen medium for the fashionable frock here pictured. This same model could be effectively reproduced in French gingham. That is such a pretty idea of using a solid color for the revers, the vestee, cuffs and pocket finishings.

This model could be exquisitely copied in plaid taffeta and at this time of the year remnants are picked up at enticing reductions.

The little highland lassie in the picture is thrice blest, in that her frock is plaid, boasts a sure-enough leather belt with a big square buckle, and crowning joy of all, the socks are striped in accord with fashion's latest edict.

For school wear later on plaid gingham jumper frocks will be quite the thing. These are so easily made at home, and the ginghams now on display are so very attractive. Why not make two blouses to the one plaited skirt? Sleeves and collars soil so easily and economy suggests several waists as a simple solving of the problem.

Stripes are also greatly featured this season. One can buy nowadays such clever striped sateen or cotton broadcloth. The striped blouse with skirt in solid color bespeaks a favored mode.

Pretty pastel harmonies are accomplished by using wide borderings of a different shade. There is also every indication that we are also to enjoy a season of bordered patterns. Initial showings of spring cottons stress fascinating 54-inch bordered voiles. There is economy in the use of these wide materials, and patterns are available which call for the manipulation of the fabric without underarm seams.

Cottons for the Southland include rayon mixed crepes with borders blocked in tapestry effect carried out in light and deeper pastel tones. Handblocked linen showing colorful Chinese patterning is among the season's novelties.

It is said that considerable lace will be used on simple daytime wash dresses. The ochre tinted lace is most popular. Girlish collars and deep cuffs, together with jabots of ochre lace, are rendered even a greater attractiveness by the addition of tiny ribbon bows and ties.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

APPLES BAKED IN MANY APPETIZING WAYS

A Baked Apple Never Fails to Appeal.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Baked apples, at first thought, are just baked apples—scrubbed, cored, left with the peel on, and having each cavity filled with sugar, and a bit of butter, perhaps, and baked with a very little water in the pan to keep them from scorching. Apples baked in this way should, of course, be basted occasionally with the sirup that forms the water, apple juice, and sugar. If a variety of apples is used which is also good for jelly making, such as the Maiden Blush, Jonathan, Tompkins King, or Northern Spy, and if care is taken not to add too much water, this sirup will be more or less jellied when the apples are tender and cooled.

Baking in Skins.

Baking apples in their skins is but one way of baking them. Some people like to pare the apples as well as to core them, and to bake them in a heavy sirup, with a suggestion of lemon or spice flavoring, or both. They may be immersed in the sirup, or simply set in a small amount of it and basted frequently. Pared apples may be baked on squares or rounds of bread, with the crusts removed, set in a little sirup which is used for basting. The bread becomes saturated with the jellied sirup. To make these look very attractive, a little red vegetable coloring may be added to the sirup and a candied cherry or cranberry set on top. These apples are good without cream, but extra fine if you have it.

Stuffing in Cores.

Whether pared or cooked in their skins, apples to be baked may have the cores replaced by various stuffings, such as nut meats, chopped raisins, figs, dates, or combinations of these fillings, or by preserves of distinctive flavor such as apricot or orange marmalade, strawberry jam, grape jelly, or plum preserve. A glass pie plate is useful for baking apples, because it can be brought to the table without transferring the apples to another dish, and without loss of the sirup.

Use of Spices.

As people generally are very decided about the flavoring used on cooked apples—those who like them plain never agree with those who like them spiced—it is well for the housekeeper to make a few inquiries before she sprinkles her apples with cinnamon or nutmeg.

TO GET MOST FROM FAMILY'S DOLLARS

Co-Operation Is Necessary to Get Best Results.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Most farm women try to stretch their housekeeping dollars as far as possible but their skill in this art varies widely. This is shown by cost of living studies made by the Department of Agriculture. Many farm families fail to get the quantity of vegetables and fruits that could be had from the farm at low cost in comparison with the market prices of these products.

Less than one-half of the total amount of food products consumed by 110 farm families in New London, Conn., in 1923 was furnished by the farms. The remainder was provided by direct purchase. Similar high percentages of purchased as compared with farm-grown table supplies have been recorded in other localities. Farm families, it is declared, could live more cheaply were their meals better planned and prepared, and provided to a greater extent from the farm and the garden.

Savings are often possible, says the department, through more efficient use of fuel and household supplies. Sometimes waste in the use of the automobile and excessive auto operation costs can be lessened. Expenditures for education and "advancement" are desirable, but money for these purposes should not be spent lavishly, merely because the purpose is regarded as educational or spiritual.

One way of stretching the dollar is by setting up a definite goal for family improvement. Failure to plan expenditures often means that vital needs, such as those for insurance, health and recreation, cannot be met. When all members of the farm family understand where the family income goes and co-operate in attaining a definite goal in family living, a given amount of money will go much further.

In the Connecticut study the average annual expenditure of 110 families was found to be $1,492, compared with $1,540 for 182 families in Ohio, $1,669 for 472 families in Iowa and $1,558 for 187 families in Alabama. Only 4.6 per cent of the Connecticut farm homes studied were completely modern. Expenditure for advancement averaged $81 per family, or 5.4 per cent of the total value of goods consumed. This proportion was lower than that of the families in Alabama and Iowa, but slightly higher than that of the families in Ohio.

Watch Bacon Carefully if You Wish It Crisp

Frying bacon so that it is thoroughly delicious and crisp, though unburned, is a hard thing to accomplish, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Frying bacon so that it is crisp is chiefly a matter of getting the water and excess fat out of it. In order not to burn it, one should be very careful that neither the bacon nor the fat in the pan becomes overheated. Throughout the process the fat should remain a light brown color and should not be allowed to get dark brown. It is easier therefore, to cook it slowly.

To be crisp bacon does not need to drain while it is cooking. It can even be fried in deep fat with excellent results. But after it is cooked and has been taken from the pan it should be thoroughly drained while still hot, then served promptly.

Beans May Be Cooked in Several Different Ways

Baked beans may be cooked in many ways. Here is a recipe furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture:

Cook the dried beans gently until the skins begin to break, then drain off the water. Put a layer of beans in a bean pot or deep earthen dish, and on this layer, in the center of the dish, place a piece of salt pork ("streak of fat and streak of lean") having the rind side up, using for one quart of beans a half pound of pork; the rind should be scored. Fill up the dish with the beans, and add seasonings and water to cover the beans.

The simplest seasoning for beans is one tablespoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of pepper to a quart of beans. Mix the salt and pepper with the water. If liked, a tablespoonful of mustard may be added, as well as an onion and a tablespoonful or more of molasses. Instead of the pork a piece of salt or fat beef or mutton may be employed. In this case there should be from 1½ to 2 pounds of the meat to a quart of beans. If fresh meat be used, add more salt to the beans. If salt meat is used, probably one teaspoonful of salt will be enough. When mutton is employed, trim off every particle of the skin.

Bake the beans in a very moderate oven for eight or ten hours. Add a little boiling water from time to time, but never enough to bring the water beyond the top of the beans. Any kind of bean may be baked in this manner. However, the small pea bean is the best for "Boston baked beans." The lima and large white beans are best for the deep earthen dish. Do not cover the beans while baking.

Other flavors liked with baked beans are those supplied by tomato sauce, tomato catsup, brown gravy, and mushroom sauce.

Bacon Gives Needed Zest to Various Other Foods

By using bacon frequently the housewife adds greatly to the flavor and interest of the food she serves, points out the United States Department of Agriculture. Bacon can be cooked and served with greens and beans, and used to garnish and give flavor to many vegetables, poultry and meat dishes. A small amount previously cooked and cut up makes any soup tastier. Bacon with eggs, scrambled or fried, is hearty enough for a dinner dish occasionally.

Savory rolls made out of chopped meat, such as beef and pork minced, a round steak, are improved by laying over them thin slices of bacon, which keep the surface moistened with fat during the baking. These slices should be scored on the edge, so that they will not curl up in cooking. The bacon is particularly needed for flavor and fat when the chopped meat is chiefly beef. Two or three slices of bacon placed under the roll in the baking pan will prevent the meat from sticking and add to the fat available for gravy-making.

Choice and Common Beef

"Choice" beef has an abundance of white, firm fat, a bright attractive red color in the lean, and is firm and dry, yet velvety to the touch. "Common" beef has a scanty covering of dark or yellowish fat, a dark or blackish red lean, and is soft, wet, and glistening. These differences are the signs by which a housewife can determine the character of the meat purchased, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Age and the Old

Will Hayes, the movie magnate, said at a Los Angeles tea:

"Age is a very sensitive subject, especially in the movies. In the movies, you see, one is old so soon.

"But everybody is sensitive on the subject of age. A boy said to his father one day:

"'What do people mean when they say a man is in the prime of life?'

"'They mean, son,' said the father, 'to spare the poor old fellow's feelings.'"

"And to think I was poisoning my own Baby!"

"I couldn't see why he didn't gain. I never dreamed that my constipation was responsible until the doctor told me.

"He explained that faulty or slow elimination of waste matter allowed poisons to form and be absorbed by the blood—and this meant tainted milk for baby.

"He prescribed the Nujol treatment and it made a world of difference to both of us. Now that I know how dangerous constipation is and how easily it can be prevented, I am never going to allow myself to get into that bad condition again."

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When precious new lives are at stake they seek the remedy that medical authorities approve because it is so safe, gentle and natural in its action. Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol helps in Nature's own way

Nujol simply makes up for a deficiency—temporary or chronic—in the supply of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular elimination, without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. To insure internal cleanliness, it should be taken regularly in accordance with the directions on each bottle. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

The Last Clause of Your Will

When you come to the last clause, and the lawyer asks whom you wish to appoint to carry out the provisions of your will, pause!

When, for sentimental considerations, you are inclined to name an individual, ask yourself these questions:

Is he competent, and does he possess the necessary professional and technical training? Is he subject to family jealousies? Might he become sick or die or move away?

These questions will be answered to your utmost satisfaction and security, if you name the Southern Trust and Commerce Bank as executor and trustee.

It will be worth your while to consult our officers about your will.

SCHOOL SPRINTERS ARE FAST STEPPERS

Champion sprinters have always been a hobby with Coach Dean Cromwell of the University of Southern California. He trained Howard Drew, who equalled the 9.6 record in 1914, and Charles Paddock, who has oficially equalled that mark four times. Now come two freshmen stars who show promise. One is Weldron Draper, of Fort Worth, Texas, who did the 100 in 9 4-5 seconds twelve times in his last year of high school competition. Draper runs the 220 under 22 seconds. The other youth Charles Borah, from Massachuseets. Borah has run the century in 9 4-5 and the 220 under 22 flat. In the meet with Andover last year, Borah clipped off the 100 in 10 flat, sprinted the 220 in 22 2-5, grabbed the quarter in 49 3-5, and then broad jumped 21 feet to win that event.

THINGS FOR USE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I HAVE always held that clothing and furniture and things about the house were for use rather than for standing in the corner for a show or for laying away in lavender and tissue paper to be kept new and fresh. When I buy a new suit of clothes I want to put it on at once and get the good out of it. I've never been crazy over furniture that was too fine or too uncomfortable for regular use, or for guest towels that were laid away as soon as the guest had closed the front door.

Mrs. Arnold thought otherwise.

Arnold was in better than good circumstances. He could easily afford every comfort that he and his wife took a fancy to. They had built a fine house—so fine and well planned, in fact, that illustrations of it had been published in "The House Beautiful" and other journals for showing us how to make the most of things.

There was a beautiful dining room—and Mrs. Arnold's linen was the envy of her neighbors—but they never ate there for fear of marring the furniture or of getting the linen soiled—it was a job to launder it, you know. Instead, except upon state occasions such as when Mrs. Arnold had the minister and his wife to dinner or Arnold entertained the president of the company with which he was connected, they ate in the kitchen and used the common things with which they had gone to housekeeping when they were married.

The bathrooms were marvels of white tile and embroidered linen—too marvelous in fact for common use. Mrs. Taylor, who had a house full of healthy and well-washed youngsters, looked in at one of the bathrooms one day when Mrs. Arnold was entertaining the sewing circle and commented upon its spelling order and its shining untouched appearance.

"But where do they bathe?" she queried, and she would have been amused if she had known where.

There was a fine living room in the house furnished by a specialist from the city in most elaborate style, but there was no comfortable place to sit down, no place where Arnold coming home tired from the office could stretch his legs in comfort. It was all stiff and like a schoolboy with his Sunday clothes on.

Mrs. Arnold had beautiful linen sheets and fine damask towels, but Arnold never felt their smooth coolness in summer. They were carefully folded away, too fine to be used. She had pretty dresses, and becoming hats, and lovely china, but she was afraid of taking the newness off one or of getting the other broken. So they wore their old clothes, and ate off coarse white things, and sat mostly in the kitchen or on the back porch where there was nothing to be injured by use.

When Mrs. Arnold dies some one is going to get a lot of beautiful things, and I hope whoever she is will not think them too fine for every-day use.

Condemned to Be Electrocuted

"Tex," the one-hundred-and-two-year-old elephant owned by Charles Newton, is soon to be electrocuted at Ada, Okla. The elephant has killed nine men since Newton purchased him ten years ago. After a recent damage suit in Little Rock, Ark., Newton decided to get rid of the animal, but no zoo or circus wanted him. Because of his temperament the monster is kept in chains most of the time, but despite this handicap he frequently bowls over his keeper and runs at large.

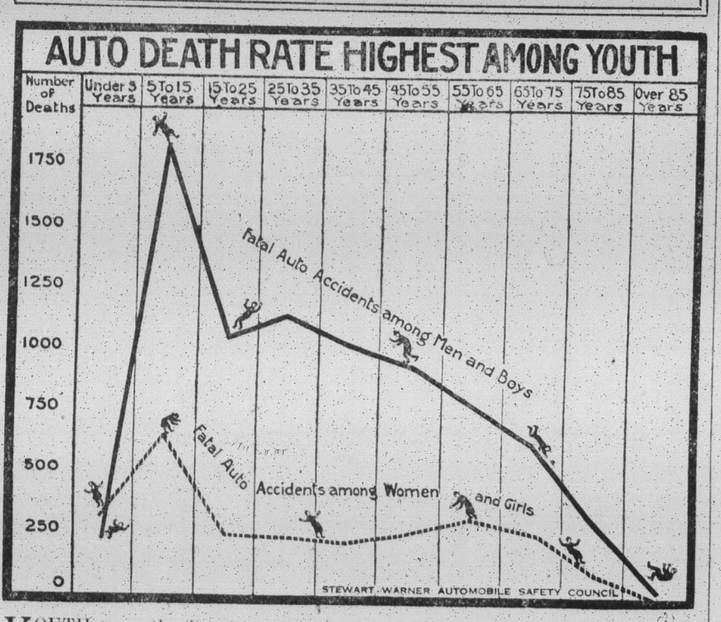
Youth of Nation Tops Death List in U. S. Auto Fatalities



YOUTH pays the heaviest toll in annual automobile fatalities. From five to fifteen years is the period when the greatest number of fatal accidents occur, for both sexes. The chart shows the age distribution of automobile deaths for men and women as given in the latest mortality figures prepared by the government. These figures, says the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, emphasize the need for more playgrounds and increased safety education among school children.

Complete statistics are not possible, as only 85 per cent of the United States keeps mortality records. About 22,000 a year is generally conceded to be the annual number of automobile fatalities. For 8,621 males known to have been killed in one year there were only a third as many women, or 2,845, in spite of the fact that the male population is only 4 per cent greater than the female.

This chart does not take into consideration the 660,000 Americans who are injured annually by automobiles. Such figures are not available except in certain states, but that boys and girls again make up the bulk of such casualties is indicated by the records of New York state kept for the first nine months of 1925. Here 11,768, or practically one-third of the 38,392 injured, were under fifteen years of age.

ANNUAL SERVICE COMMEMORATES FIFTEENTH NATAL ANNIVERSARY

Boy Scout Troop No. 29, of Ocean Beach, held their annual church service in the Baptist church Sunday evening last. The troop was under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster Walter Varney.

During the exercises of the evening the troop gave the salute to the flag and the Scout oath.

Following these exercises the scoutmaster, Rev. W. S. Dunn, gave a brief talk on "The First Class Scout." Rev. Mr. Dunn said that the purpose of the service was not only to commemorate the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, but also to give the community of Ocean Beach an opportunity to ascertain the value of the Scout program. The Scout oath and law requires that a Scout shall be obedient, clean, kind, reverent. Any boy over twelve years of age fully understands the value of these things and when they become the motives of his daily life they tend to develop in the Scout characteristics that go to make the best citizens of our great country.

The music of the evening was furnished by the Bungalow Trio. This was greatly appreciated by all present.

FERTILIZER SECTION OF FISH AND GAME ACT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

A decision written by Judge Frederick W. Houser, of the district court of appeal for the Los Angeles district, has just been handed down, by which it is determined that that part of the fish and game act which purports to regulate the manufacture of fish fertilizer, by permitting a packer of sardines using one-pound oval cans only, to use whole fish for reltizer purposes, is unconstitutional.

The ruling, which is of great importance to the fish canning industry in this state, is based upon the unjust discrimination contained in the statute, which favors the packer using the one-pound oval cans as against a packer using smaller cans, as well as against the smoker, the dryer or the salter of sardines.
